premier had been fired and said he was trying to stop the Congo's lunge toward the Communist camp. He accused Lumumba of having pushed the strife-torn republic into a fratricidal war and disaster.

The president asked Senate President Joseph Ileo, moderate political leader of the National Congolese Movement, to form a new government.

Two hours later, Lumumba made his move. Taking control of the network, he proclaimed himself in power.

Woman Dies

car driven by her husband when it collided with the rear of a two-ton truck on U.S. Highways 20 and 26 about five miles west of Arco.

The car was wedged beneath the rear of the truck when officers arrived. Mrs. Nichols suffered extensive head injuries and had been in critical condition since Sunday night at the Arco hospital.

Two passengers in the Nichols car were slightly injured. They were Mrs. P. W. Cederholm, 541 North Main, and her 7-year-old son, Carl.

Mrs. Nichols' husband, Jay, 65, driver of the car, was not hurt. The driver of the truck was Glenn Roundy, 51, Cache Junction, Utah, and he also escaped injury.

State Patrolman Ron Varble, who investigated the accident, said it has not been determined how the mishap occurred. He said his investigation would be continued.

Mrs. Nichols' death came despite emergency efforts by Varble and Bonneville County Sheriff's officers. When it was determined that the Lost Rivers Hospital needed additional blood plasma a supply was rushed to Arco from Sacred Heart Hospital in Idaho Falls.

Varble met the Idaho Falls unit halfway and took the plasma to Arco.

Mrs. Nichols was born Aug. 10, 1898 at Pocatello to Patrick and Mary Elizabeth Steinman Shea. She received her early education in Pocatello schools and later attended the Academy of Idaho, now Idaho State College.

She was employed as a bookkeeper by the Carrothers and Archibald Amusement Co. and later by the First National Bank of Pocatello.

She was married to Jay Nichols at Pocatello on April 17, 1920.

Survivors include her husband and one son, Capt. Richard M. Nichols, McConnell Air Force Base, Wichita, Kan.; and a brother, Charles Shea, San Diego, Calif.

younger brother, Ted, was here about two weeks ago, he stressed the need for election of a Democratic Congress to work with a Democratic president.

The candidate himself called today for the election of a Democratic president to work with a Democratic Congress.

"The country would move ahead more if the president shares the views of a Democratic congress."

Kennedy was high in his praise for Church, saying the Idaho senator's selection as Democratic national keynoter was a tribute "not only to Idaho but to Sen. Church as well."

Watching Struggle

On the foreign front he said the people of many nations have their eyes on the power struggle between the U.S. and Russia and are waiting to pick a winning side.

"It is up to us to demonstrate that this nation is a great power. This nation is great; it could be greater. This state is great; it could be greater. I ask your help," he told the crowd.

At his press conference earlier, Kennedy said he had received a response to his inquiry about Russia's using NATO bases for refueling before flying to the Congo. He was informed through an assistant to Secretary of State Christian Herter that the airfield in question was under control of the Greek government and that some of the planes that refueled there were on a food mission. He said he would talk to Washington about the question again today, "but I think this explanation is completely satisfactory."

Also at the press conference he termed his reaction to his tour Monday in Michigan "excellent from our point of view."

Withholds Fire

He declined to comment on a Labor Day statement by Former President Harry S. Truman which accused Vice President Richard Nixon of "back door" campaigning. Kennedy said he would stick to his announced policy of not criticizing the GOP nominee personally while Nixon is in the hospital.

Also speaking was Sen. Henry Jackson, national Democratic chairman, who said "We're off to a good start."

"The only thing we need to do is make sure Democrats are registered. If they are registered, we will have a tremendous victory."

Jackson also took the opportunity to attack the administration.

"Eight years ago we were promised that the Iron Curtain would be rolled back—now it is within 90 miles of our coast."

Church thanked the crowd for the large turnout, particularly those who were at the airport at 3:30

Once he reached the car, headed east on Clark Street, progress was slowed again as the white convertible inched its way through a line of people reaching to shake his hand. Also perched on the back of the car were Church, McLaughlin, Harding and State Democratic Chairman John Walters.

He left Pocatello Municipal Airport for Spokane at 10:58 a.m., almost half an hour behind schedule.

Arbitration Proposed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad awaited an answer today from two striking unions on its offer to submit to "final and binding arbitration" three issues which it says are blocking settlement of a six-day strike which has shut down the nation's largest rail carrier.

knew about the voyage shortly after the trawler left Cuba.

The discovery that the two men are now in Moscow touched off quick reactions from congressional investigators.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities announced it will subpoena the personnel director of the National Security Agency to get the employment records of the two code clerks.

A well placed Capitol Hill source, declining to be quoted by name, told a reporter at least one other congressional group had started preliminary inquiry before the House committee moved in.
