has passed, our population has grown enormously, and yet today we are producing a greater surplus of wheat than any other country in the world. Our difficulty is not to find wheat for ourselves but to find other countries that will buy it from us.

and at free will American have to pay

In 1896 Mr. Bryan eloquently assured us that gold could no longer serve as the world's money standard because there couldn't possibly be enough of it produced. Before the echoes of his oratory had died away, science had perfected new processes of gold extraction, and in a few years another group of earnest people were just as solemnly warning us that we
