At the same time the day, with him throughout the state from Sept. 27-30. McLaughlin said he would accompany Church and Harding in a handshaking campaign in southern Idaho.

After campaigning in the southeastern area is completed, McLaughlin and Church will tour northern Idaho and other parts of the state in an effort to unseat Republican incumbent Henry Dworshak in the general election Nov. 8.

The Mountain Home prosecuting attorney said he would be in Bannock County for the next few days. He will attend a fair at Twin Falls later this week and then fly to Lewiston where he will make an appearance at the Lewiston Roundup this weekend.

While in north Idaho, he will attend a public function at Orofino. McLaughlin said he felt his campaign was going very well.

Storm Leaves Heavy Floods, Mounting Toll

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Donna's death toll mounted today as raging floods in the wake of the big Atlantic storm.

Civil Defense officials estimated 2 persons were dead or missing in the Humacao area on Puerto Rico's southeast coast. In many other towns on the island, only the rooftops were visible above the floods triggered by Donna's tempestuous rains as she passed north of Puerto Rico Monday.

The 125-mile-an-hour storm killed five persons in the Leeward Islands and the Miami Weather Bureau says it may have been responsible for the loss of 63 lives by the crash of a French airliner Aug. 20.

An Air France Super Constellation, en circling for a landing at Dakar in French West Africa, fell into the Atlantic in a blinding mist storm that could have marked the birth of the hurricane.

A few hours later Donna was picked up for the first time by the Weather Bureau off the African coast as she began whirling westward across the Atlantic.

An ominous slowdown in the forward movement of the storm indicated today that the United States mainland still may be in danger.

A delirious crowd of approximately 50 stuck it out for three hours early this morning to greet the delayed arrival of Democratic presidential candidate Sen. John F. Kennedy.

More than 100 persons and a brass band were at the Municipal Airport by 1:15 a. m., the scheduled arrival time. But Kennedy's plane was an hour late leaving Michigan where the senator had addressed a Labor Day rally, and the craft encountered strong headwinds in the way. The senator's plane touched down at 3:40 a. m.

The first dignitary off the candidate's plane was Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, who had addressed a Boston rally on Kennedy's behalf Monday night and joined the senator later.

"What are you people doing up this line of the morning?" Church asked the crowd as it greeted him with applause.

Kennedy Awake.

"I'm afraid I have some bad news for you," he said, saying Kennedy was still asleep in a bed on the plane, intended to give him a chance to catch up on sleep between campaign appearances.

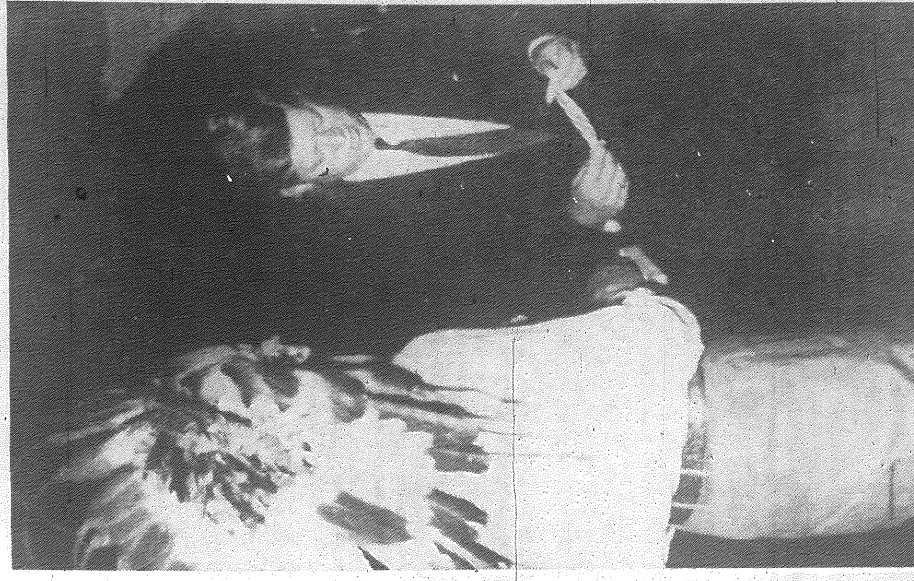

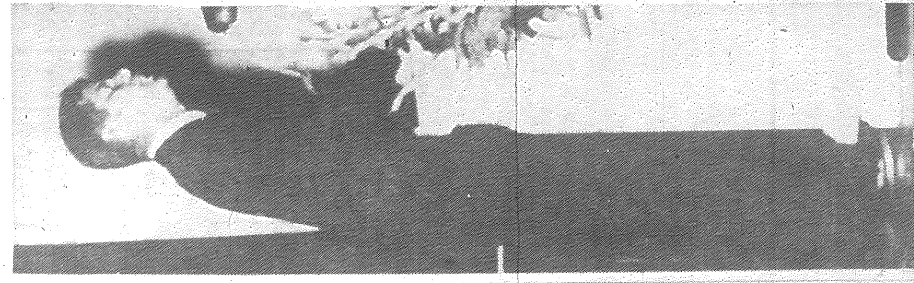

Then someone on the plane informed Church that Kennedy had awakened and would go on into the city instead of waiting until morning.

Next down the ramp was Sen. (Scoop) Jackson, national Democratic chairman, Church introduced Jackson to the crowd.

Kennedy walked down into the crowd, shaking the hands of those waiting below before being whisked to Hotel Bannock by state and city police and Bannock County sheriff's officers.

Arriving ahead of the Kennedy plane were two other chartered planes carrying the campaign staff and about 50 members of the press.

MAKES A POINT — Sen. John F. Kennedy stressed a point during his talk today from the stage of the high school auditorium.

TRIBAL GIFT—Willie George, a Shoshone-Bannock Tribal leader presented Sen. Kennedy with a beaded gift this morning at the end of the senator's speech to an overflow crowd at Pocatello High School. Tribe members also presented a dance.

TRUMAN SPEAKS

Former President Harry S. Truman spoke at Marion, Ind., in behalf of the Kennedy-Johnson ticket. He said continuation of a Republican administration probably would lead to "depression and real disaster."

Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho), told a rally at Worcester, Mass., that a Democratic president and a Democratic Congress are needed to meet the Soviet challenge, and to provide sound social welfare.
