

EXECUTIVE AND SECRET SERVICE
THANK CITIZENS

Chief Executive and Officials Deeply Appreciative of Cooperation Afforded During Visit to Pocatello.

R. L. Maddox, member of the United States post service, who has been in the city for several days making arrangements for the visit of President Harding, stated to a Tribune representative today that on behalf of the president's members of the presidential party and officials of the secret service, through the excellent co-operation accorded during the visit of the nation's chief executive.

The reception of President Harding in Portland, said Mr. Maddox, was handled by a number of high and influential members of the post service, and the department requested that their personal thanks be extended to the citizens of this community. Great credit is due the members of the reception committee, the American Legion and the various officials of the Oregon Shore Guard, for the splendid manner in which the state has cooperated to an extent that has not been equaled on the present journey of President Harding.

"It is only by such close cooperation that proper protection can be afforded the president and the secretaries of state and the secretaries of the precautions arranged and the smooth operation during his visit to the gate city. It is extremely difficult at times to handle the large crowds which always gather to greet the coming of a national hero and to make a safe withdrawal of the forces of the national guard. In this respect, that I have ever seen."

Mr. Maddox is one of a group of secret service officials who are sent out in advance of the president on all of his trips to a number of cities to make a study of the situation and to make proper protective measures. At several days in Pocatello preceding the visit of President Harding and stayed by day that nowhere had he been accorded such close cooperation as in the

PUBLIC HEALTH
NEED STRESSED

San Francisco, Calif., June 28 (AP).—More widespread activity in public health is the expression of a desire for better health conservation than any other existing function of government, asserted Dr. Walter M. Baetjer, secretary, American Association of Public Health and Executive Officer of the California State Board of Health, in addressing the annual convention of the American Medical Association here today.

Every individual knows that he must be in good health and that the people of his community must be in good health or else none of them can enjoy any of the advantages that have been made possible by the automobile, production, commerce and industry. Dr. Dickie said: "While the development of this public demand for the safeguarding of its health is along natural lines, the advancement of learning has had most to do with its growth. Its further development has been fostered through the activities of a civic, social, medical and

HARDING GUEST STATE OF IDAHO

Special Interest Centers Around World Court

On Board President Harding's Special Train, June 28 (AP). President Harding took on board in Indianapolis a large number of people who had come to see him. Some of the men had come to see him at other times, but at other times they had disappointed and some of the times denounced the administration policies.

Because of the attitude of Senator Borah toward the Harding administration there was particular interest in the manner of the reception accorded the president. There also was special interest in the attitude of the president toward the senator. It was expected to make in the state one of room at Pocatello, the other later in the day at Idaho Falls. Both of the senators will be extemporaneous. Among the unofficial members of the presidential party there was curiosity as to whether the chief executive would toen upon the world conference as he has in a number of other places. This time he made an important address in Borah's home town, where he is a well known workman, and he is preparing to be the administration representative to the administration proposal for American adhesion to the court.

The president will not visit Boise. Senator Borah's home city, but word was received about the presidential train early today that Senator Borah would be on the train. He is expected to be in the train, planned to meet Mr. Harding on his arrival at Postville and accompany him to Idaho Falls.

Governor Moore, according to the program of the day's activities will not board the train, is to introduce out about the train, is to introduce

The program for the president stop at Pocatello in addition to this address, includes an automobile tour of the city and review of the school children. After speaking from the rear platform of his train on arriving at Idaho Falls, the president plans to tour the city and then inspect a model

POISON TAKEN FROM 24,000 REPTILES TO SUPPLY SCIENTISTS

Brownville, Tex., June 8 (AP).—Three glass jars, perniciously sealed, each filled with yellowish crystals, repose on a shelf in the office of W. A. ("Snake") King, at (S) Snakeville. The crystals in question represent the arsenic in arsenic poison, approximately 8,000 rattlesnakes, and, according to Mr. King, there is enough poison in the jars to kill several regiments, if it were properly applied. Here and all over King animals and men at (S) Snakeville "there are at all times and descriptions of rattles of all sizes and descriptions. For several years he had been collecting poison from the reptiles and crystallizing it in a small kilm and sending the products to those who are endeavoring to find a remedy for snake bite. Few people in Brownville realize the volume of business which flows through "Snakeville." They carry out scores of boxes labeled "Chin," "out. Reptiles!" Handle exports of office, bag and macramé-knotted sign, and a few Mexican-made slippers. Dozens of Mexican snake eatthers are required to keep the stream of reptiles moving into King's pens.

"I have never charged a cent for the poison crystals, nor do I ever expect to charge anyone for the anti-toxin," King states. "I have saved the poison and crystallized it for the benefit of science, and I have returned the gift of anti-venom to the world."

"Snakeville," through the world

It is a curious fact, King points out, that the poison used to produce the antivenom works only when taken from the family of snakes that comes from the bite has come from the case of rattlesnake bite. King asserts, the serum used is made from the blood of a horse inoculated with

At 10:51 the presidential special, consisting of ten cars, pulled into the Short Line station from the south and the train was switched onto the specially built steel track just north of the station. Thousands of people from all sections of Idaho joined in cheering President and Mrs. Hoover as they passed. The train arrived at the observation car in the train arrived in the city. The president was introduced by Governor C. Moore. Immediately following the president's address, Senator Governor James H. Hawley returned the president to Idaho and throughout the trip. Attended by Representative J. A. Akers, the president, with a finished iron horseshoe which was made from an iron axle connection used on one of the wagons of an emigrant train that was grain and

Helena, Mont., June 26 (AP).—If the July 4 fight at Shelby, Mont., does not materialize, every dollar which was paid for tickets must be refunded and "Mr. Kearns and Mr. Dempsey cannot sit idly by knowing as they have known that tickets were being sold, without rendering themselves blameworthy and culpable under our laws," according to a statement issued this afternoon by Attorney Gen. W. D. Rankin.

St. Paul, Minn., June 28 (AP)—Molloy, president of the Great Northern railway, said today that the company would not contribute money to the relief of the flood-stricken states. He said the company might aid financially in "putting the money over," the Damper-Gibbons fight at St. Louis. Molloy was definitely discredited today by Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern road.

INDIAN PART IN LATE WAR

During his address President Harding took notice of the Indian malcontents in the huge gathering and stated that he knew of no more appropriate name to say a few words about the Indians. The president then said that he was proud of the government and was glad that such was treated his name and being so, in referring to the war, the president stated that 12,000 Indians adopted and gave their service in the uniform and displayed themselves most nobly on the field of battle. He stated that the army
